Reference from attorney, Mike Ealy of Ramsden and Lyons:

As a construction law practitioner, I value consultants that have the knowledge, skill and expertise to objectively evaluate a construction defect issue; educate me and my clients about that issue; and provide timely and authoritative reports and testimony regarding the same. Over the past several years I have had the opportunity to work with Brian Daniels and Pacific Northwest Construction Consulting Services, LLC on multiple residential construction defect cases both as a plaintiff and as a defendant. Over this time, Mr. Daniels has demonstrated to me that he has the knowledge, skill and expertise necessary to assist in the prosecution and/or defense of a residential construction defect case. Brian Daniels has more than 20 years building experience in new and remodel construction. His experience provides him with the expertise necessary to identify and opine on the workmanship and code compliance issues present in most residential construction defect cases.

In addition, Mr. Daniel's continuing work as a residential remodel contractor allows him to provide me with accurate and relevant cost to repair information. Further, Mr. Daniel's undertakes and presents his work with an honesty and integrity that gives me the confidence that a judge or jury will give weight to his testimony and not simply perceive him as another "hired gun." Therefore, based on my past experience, I recommend that you consider the services of Brian Daniels and Pacific Northwest Construction Consulting Services, LLC on your next residential construction defect case.

Yours truly,
